Wes is married with two children. His special interests include gardening, skiing, fly fishing, learning (by watching, reading and doing), self-directed investing, fiddling with his camera, making things (if for no other reason than to find out how to make them) and other puttering. Former interests include wine-making (on account of loss of patience) and martinis (on account of acquiring additional common sense). The major regret in his life is that there are just 24 hours in a day.

Wesley Brown

CALLED TO THE BAR (ONTARIO) 1980

Areas of Practice: Banking and Corporate Finance, Corporate and Commercial, Estate and Succession Planning

“I love to learn new things because I am curious by nature. Learning about people, their businesses and their industry is no exception and is an enjoyable investment of my time and effort. An important benefit is the ability to carve legal advice specific to my client’s environment, perspective and level of sophistication. It comes naturally to me.”
